Sunday Settles Beanie Issue

By Sunday night the Freshman class will have the answer to the question foremost in their minds - "Do we have to wear our beanies?" The Crown and Sword Society has arranged a Field Day, Sunday, Sept. 30, at 2 P.M. to settle the beanie issue for this year.

Co-chairmen Bill Chaisson and Ron Maistroberadino have planned three events with the Freshman class competing against the Sophomores. The class winning the most points can determine the fate of the beanies.

The three events being held are the Frosh-Soph interclass football game, a spin relay race, and an egg scramble. The last event will be held ajacent to the athletic field amidst a huge pile of hay.

Besides the activities, there will also be refreshments on hand!

Fr. Moriarty Addresses First Council Meeting

Very Rev. Francis E. Moriarty, S.S.E., college president, addressed the Student Council Tuesday evening in Science Hall 107 to highlight the first meeting of the student governing body.

In his forceful initial delivery of 45 minutes, Fr. Moriarty discussed many subjects before placing himself at the mercy of the questioning Council for an equal period of time.

FAVORS COUNCIL

Speaking as the college president to the student body representatives, Fr. Moriarty stated that he felt "a vast area of responsibility on campus can be bestowed on a student representive group such as this one." He added that his personal conviction is that a student body is not a showcase for the administration and for faculty to "play" with and that certain problems are best handled by the students themselves.

In discussing the benefits of Student Council membership, the President pointed out that the most valuable lesson that could be learned is to view a problem objectively. He said he is "constantly amazed at education conferences, etc., at the small number of adults who view a problem objectively without letting personal prejudices sway their decisions." If Council members begin this practice now of objective thinking, he contended, this will aid them invaluably in later life.

PRAISES ACCOMPLISHMENTS

He concluded by praising the Council for its work over the past year. "Much has been accomplished in the past two years to raise the prestige of the Student Council on campus. However, just a few foolish or indiscreet actions can ruin a year's work." Before becoming president, Fr. Moriarty served as first moderator of the Council.

QUESTIONS FOLLOW

Bill Willig then opened the question period by asking if the juniors would be allowed a jazz concert in their program for Junior Weekend. In reply, Fr. Moriarty suggested that a committee from the Council meet with him in the future to discuss the problems relating to a jazz concert.

Further questions dealt with an Alma Mater, Commencement, inter-collegiate football and the "grand purge" of last June.

FURTHER BUSINESS

The Council then passed on to the other business of the meeting. Announcements concerning budget reports, due

Elections Featured At Homecoming

The annual Homecoming Weekend at St. Michael's College is set this year for Oct. 5-7. Highlighting the weekend will be the announcement of election results for national positions. Thomas J. Kenney, secretary of the alumni, released yesterday the names of the nominees.

McNAMARA UNOPPOSED

Thomas H. McNamara of Waltham, Mass. who is at present the President of the Alumni Association will be unopposed for reelection. However, there will be contests for three other positions.

Candidates for national vice-president are Daniel A. Alfieri, '49, of Ardsley, N.Y. and Thomas E. Sheehan, '50, of Springfield, Mass.

Three candidates have tossed their hats into the ring for the post of auditor. Edward J. Foley, '51, from Holyoke, Mass. will oppose both Roger F. Keleher, '44, of Indian Orchard, Mass. and Salvatore Lanzetta, '40, a local Burlington alumnus.

DESIRE DIRECTORSHIP

Competition is also keen for the position of director. The ballot will list John J. Britton, '51, of Framingham, Mass.; Frank Collins, '42, another Holyoke, Mass. resident; Daniel Conley, '33, from Pittsfield, Mass. and Robert J. McMahon, '50, of Middletown, Conn.

The nominees were selected by a board which included Rob-

Annual Mass Celebrated By SMC President

Last Sunday a High Mass in honor of the Feast of the Holy Spirit was celebrated at Austin Hall. The Very Rev. Francis E. Moriarty, S.S.E., president of the college, was the celebrant. He was assisted by the Rev. Father Sullivan, S.S.E., who served as Deacon and the Rev. Gerald Dupont, S.S.E., Sub-Deacon.

Fr. Moriarty delivered the sermon. He began his sermon with a quote from the German Theologian, Carl Adams, who wrote: "All peoples, each with their special aptitudes, are her (The Catholic Church) children and all bring their gifts into the sanctuary." Father Moriarty went on to say, "Each talent then, and each single person, while maintaining his own individuality, is merged into the singularly beautiful oneness of Christ's Mystical Body. Until that unique oneness is achieved the mystic Christ must groan in frustation and unfulfillment."

NEED SPIRITUAL LIFE

In introducing the main topic of his sermon, the need for a personal spiritual life, Father sounded this warning, "...the time has come for each one of you to become particularly conscious of his own spiritual life. All the evils, real or imaginary, that plague the youth of this or

Jacques, "Shield" Editor, Plans To Improve Annual

"We will institute many progressive innovations in 'The Shield' of this year. Don Flynn, last year's editor, did an excellent job and we will strive to improve on this book, which was one of the finest ever published in the history of St. Michael's."

With these words Ray Jacques, editor of the 1956-57 college yearbook, set forth his plans for the coming year. Appointed last April by Bob Donoghue, then fulfilling his duties as president of the junior class, Jacques further stated that elaborate plans have already been made but that these will not be released until the book appears as a finished product.

ACTIVE MICHAELMAN

Prior to his appointment as editor of "The Sheild," Jacques accumulated an extensive record in extracurricular activities at St. Michael's. He first arrived on campus in September of 1952 as the recipient of a scholarship from the Knights of Columbus in his home town of Holyoke, Mass. Since that time, Jacques has been on the Dean's List for all three years.

In his freshman, sophomore and junior years, Jacques participated in interclass football, basketball and softball. He was the leading ground gainer in football both as a freshman and sophomore and was selected for the All-Star team lsat year.

Ray Jacques

1956-57 Shield Editor

CLUB MEMBERSHIPS

He has also been a member of the Sociology Club, "THE MICHAELMAN", the Crown and Sword and of course, "The Shield." He was a direct assistant to Don Flynn in editing the yearbook last year, working on layout, arrangements, etc., with his largest contribution being the Junior Weekend section.

VEA To Hear Leavitt Oct.4

Thomas W. Leavitt, a senior here and president of the Vt. college department of the National Student Education Association, will speak to the Delegates' Assembly of the VEA on the evening of October 4, it was announced today.

"A Student Looks at His Future Profession" will be the subject of Leavitt's speech to the assembly which is part of the annual VEA convention. In the talk, he has outlined what he calls "the teaching profession's future in relation to what the present provides". He will stress the role of SNEA in aiding the profession to improve itself qualitatively and quantitatively.

The Vermont college department of the Student National Education Association will also hold a general meeting

And Your Participation ?

The Interclass, Intramural Program is once again beginning to share the limelight here on the Hilltop.

Being of vital importance to form a well-rounded college man, activities should be a part of every Michaelman. Through the active response that was displayed on campus last year, it is seemingly expected that this program should once again be bolstered with active participation during the coming year.

As an introduction to the sportsminded individuals on campus, this year's program will once again feature the three major sport along with minor sports such as tennis, hockey and skiing. For those inclined to a more intellectual nature, debating, writing and play competition, to name a few, will also be a part of the schedule this year.

In order to keep keen competition among all Michaelmen, each student is expected to participate in at least one activity. The program has been set up so as to accomodate either direct class competition or intramural participation throughout the dorms on campus.

Through the planning of the Athletic Department and the Dean of Men, it will be possible once again this year to offer each student an opportunity to initiate the competitive spirit which is an important phase in a Catholic college student's life!

Addition And Improvements

In accordance with building plans formulated at St. Michael's College, the new addition of Alumni Hall to the proposed dormitory quadrangle has made a considerable note of progress as far as the living situation on campus. The new Colonial Gothic style structure has the upperclassmen residing in one of the most accomodating dorms in the surrounding area.

Featuring the latest improvements with a new scheme of furnishings, this $500,000 investment has been fittingly dedicated to our Alumni. Through their help and true Michaelman spirit down through the years, our campus has once again been enhanced with another modern spectacle.

Besides this new addition, the campus has also received new improvements such as the telephone system and mail service. The new communication plan has been designed to give both the administration and the students immediate service on campus and also the privilege of local phone use in the area, free of charge.

Along with the new phone system, there is also the new Information Booth Mail Service. This set-up provides the personnel and the students with mail boxes assigned to each department and room on campus.

Viewing these new improvements and the addition of Alumni Hall we can conclude that St. Michael's College is readily becoming more adaptable for the good of all concerned.

Today Is Feast Of St. Michael

Today is the feast of St. Michael the Archangel, patron saint of SMC. It is interesting to grope back through the years and discover how the "warrior angel" was adopted as the patron of this institution.

Before the Society of St. Edmund was formed, a group of secular priests had been gathered at Pontigny, France to preach missions. One of of this group was Fr. Bravard, who was later named Bishop of Avanches in Normandy.

MONT ST. MICHAEL

Within Bishop Bravard's dioceses in Normandy was the famous monastary Mont St. Michael. The Bishop asked the group of secular priests in France, of which he had once been a member, to come to Mont St. Michael to organize pilgrimages.

To comply with this request, the group formed an order, the Society of St. Edmund and the Mont became their first house.

S.S.E. FORMS

In 1892 the order founded St. Michael's College at Chateau-Gontier in France. Fr. Prevel, a member of the S.S.E., was the founder.

In 1901 the priests of the S.S.E. were driven from France by the French government. They came to America and founded a novitiate at Winooski Park, Vt.

SMC FOUNDED

Two years following the expulsion from France, Fr. Prevel came to America. With his experience as founder of St. Michael's in France, he was appointed as the first Superior and President of the new college which was to be formed from the Vermont novitiate. "In memory of his beloved college at Chateau-Gontier," Fr. Prevel named the college St. Michael's College and its patron saint became St. Michael the Archangel.

Saint Michael is known as the "warrior angel" for his action against Satan. It was he who led the bands of heavenly angels against Satan and his horde of fallen angels. During the attack, St. Michael cried out the words "Quis ut Deus", meaning "Who is like to God." This was subsequently interpreted by Pius XII as signifying "the strength of God." Thus St. Michael acquired the name of awarrior angel."

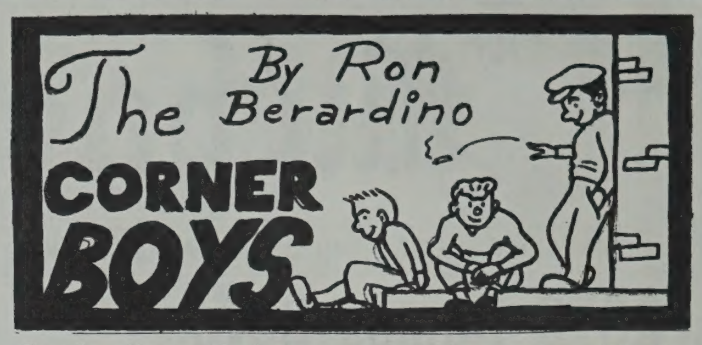
VETERANS

The Veterans Administration has announced that the first subsistence checks for all veterans will be received Nov. 20, 1956.

Be sure to sign attendance forms at the Registrar's Office.



In the first of their many public services The Corner Boys wish to extend to the returning veterans of the Summer Wars and sandy beaches their greetings and sanguine expectations for another wholesome, All-American, Winooski-Park school year.

Of course, we are also happy to welcome to our close-knit brotherhood on the Hilltop, the current crop of crewcuts making their maiden voyage on the sparkling sea of College Life at Saint Mike's.

Over a span of three months some remarkable innovations have been made, not the least of them being the brand new Alumni Hall. There had been some talk heard of changing the name to Alamo Villa due to the heterogeneous mixture of students from the forty-eights, dependents and territories. But no matter, the building has added still another touch of campus atmosphere and what with some other repairs, and a little paint the place has taken on a refreshingly new and welcomed look.

Of course the usual crisis of first week has thrown the more active of the brethren into overwhelming complexities of procedure. And along with these crisis the familiar overexageration, rumor if you will have again made their appearance. Once more, as a public service, we feel it our duty to crush them in order that light, wisdom and truth once again reign supreme. (Preceding paragraph appeared through courtesy of 'Fightin' Steve Wilson of the Illustrated Press.)

It is untrue, we repeat untrue, the Jimmy Stewart and June Allyson will make the "Lt. Griggs Story". Also branded as fraud is the acceptance of Mickey Spillane by the Humanities department as required reading. This preceeding 'bon mot' offers one to conjecture the plausability of picking up an exam in the near future and discovering a question to read thusly; "The short, staccato belch of my forty-five pierced through the inky, black night as Myra fell clutching her duodenum.

This paragraph might well be taken from A) Confession of Saint Augustine B) Book 6 of the Aeneid C) Death of a Saleswoman. We'll leave you with our "Thought for the Day:"

"I'm not dead" Sir Barton said,
"only hurt"

"I'll lie down and bleed awhile----
Then get up and fight again".

The Word for the day is----duodenem.

any other nation are owing entirely to the lack of this concept of the urgent need for a personal spiritual life."

Father Moriarty reiterated the Divine origin of the Catholic Church. He said, "As it was with the Incarnate Son of God, so is it with the Church, the bride of Christ. She was founded by Him; she is identified with Him in a very real sense; literally she is Christ in time and space; and and her mission is one with His." Stressing once again the need for a personal spiritual life Father went on to say, "...our lives must represent and in fact be a total and positive dedication of self to God. The summation of our entire life must be honestly expressed in these words: 'Behold, we come to do thy will, O God.'"

COLLEGE MATURITY

"Matriculation into college is the hallmark in your social life which signifies certain passage from childhood to manhood, from immaturity to maturity. He added we should, "...shake off the chains of parental protection or over-protection to bury with the past the panting, childish social vice of indulgence of every youthful whim or fancy. No college man, it seems to me, can be excused from personal participation in the redemptive act through ignorance. You have moved into the world of responsible men and there simply is no room for boys."

Father Moriarty offered this advice. "There is only one way for each of you to fulfill his personal and corporate share of life's higher purpose. That unique way is by an earnest effort to enrich your own spiritual life by every means available, both natural and supernatural. A man's spiritual life is pretty much a personal thing. Most certainly we need the grace of God, the power of Christ and the abiding assistance of the Holy Spirit. We need, too, the strength and the direction of Christ's Church. But there is no clearcut blueprint to the heights of holiness... A man's temperament, background and personal endowments determine in great part the flavor and tone of his own spiritual life."

FACULTY PROCESSION

A procession of the faculty and senior class which added to the day's ceremony, formed in front of Austin Hall earlier. At 10:45 A.M. the group entered the hall while the "Te Deum" was being sung by the choir. The altar was adorned with beautiful flowers to make a serene setting for the Holy Sacrifice, which was attended by the entire student body.

Much interest in the club was shown by the freshmen and also the members of Trinity College. As of now, the Trinity girls will broadcast for one hour each week night.

A large number of records were added to the station's library over the summer. The personnel, with the aid of Charles Winchell, have undertaken the task of refiling all of the records in the library.

It is hoped that by early next week the station will begin broadcasting for this school year. At that time, a program schedule will be announced and will appear in THE MICHAELMAN. The station broadcasts at 570 kilocycles, at the end of your radio dial!

SNEA Adopts Constitution

The newly re-organized Student National Education Association started the year by a unanimous adoption of its newly written Constitution which was formulated by Dan O'Hear, President.

The 105th Annual Convention of the Vermont Educational Association and the part the organization would play in it was explained by Tom Leavitt. A schedule for the SNEA's exhibit at the Convention will be established by the club officers who are; President; Phil Hourigan, Secretary, Mike Hebert; Treasurer, Vincent Foley and Historian, Don Wehmeyer.

Three permanent committees were established at the meeting. The special projects committee was set up with Phil Hourigan as chairman, Hector Foisy and Frank Finnigan as assistants. The committee on membership will be headed by Mike Hebert assisted by Mike Ready and Buell Mitchell. Finally the Publicity committee was organized with Paul Ripchick, John R. Cogan and John Munroe as members.

The Association will be of interest to those intending to teach. Speakers and films on educational problems will be one of the many features planned for this year. Membership is opened to anyone interested in the teaching profession.

Loyalty Fund Tops Quota

Western Massachusetts alumni of St. Michael's College topped all other chapters in the 1956 Loyalty Fund.

National Alumni Secretary Thomas J. Kenney said today that Berkshire alumni with 43 per cent giving and the Springfield chapter with 38 per cent led the country.

According to American Alumni Council figures, one alumnus in five (20.3 per cent) contributes to his Alma Mater. In the first full year of the Loyalty Fund, St. Michael's alumni averaged better than one in four, or 26.9 per cent. The average gift of $31.78 permitted the Michaelmen to top their $20,000 quota by $212.89.

The Worcester Chapter with 25 per cent and the Boston chapter with 21 per cent also topped the national alumni figure. Every chapter topped the national average.

Of the total, some of the money is allocated to a specific purpose, like the chapel fund. Other funds will be sent aside for projects agreed upon by college and alumni officials.

National Alumni president Thomas H. McNamara, of Waltham, Mass., was national chairman and Joseph McGovern, '32, of Pittsfield, was chairman of the most generous chapter.

Brothers Return To Pursue Study

Returning here to study this year are five seminarians who, after spending a year at the Society of St. Edmund novitiate on Ender's Island, Conn., will now complete their college courses and receive the B.A. degree in 1958.

Brothers Richard Vanderweel of Dunkirk, N.Y., Eugene Dugas of Westbrook, Me., John Zemanick of Troy, N.Y., James Holden of Bennington, and Roger Baillangeon of Biddeford, Me., have resumed studies here, where they completed two years towards a college degree before entering the novitiate in the fall of 1955.

Also beginning studies here is Brother Collin Bourne, who prepared at Ender's Island with the other seminarians last year. Brother Bourne is a native of Whitton-Middlesex, England.

At the Ender's Island novitiate the seminarians were initiated into the religious life, under the guidance of priests trained to prepare seminarians. In addition to regular religious duties the brothers attended spiritual conferences each day.

Upon completion of the year period, the Brothers took temporary vows of poverty, chastity and obedience, for three years' duration.

After receiving their degree in Philosophy here, they will enter St. Edmund's Seminary in Burlington where they will be ordained after four years' study of theology.

Dean Names Dorm Proctors

Fourteen returning upperclassmen have been selected as proctors to assist in the supervision of dormitories this year. By this time the duties of the proctors, who are under the supervision of Fathers of the Society of St. Edmund, are familiar to all Michaelmen.

Rev. Gerard P. Duford, S.S.E., dean of men, stated that these men were selected "because of their leadership, maturity and dependability." Those chosen and their assignments are:

Richard Dion, St. James; Joseph Brault, St. William's; James Kinneston, St. Leo's; Hugh Caldwell, Old Hall II; George Porreca, Old Hall III; George Latimer, Old Hall IV; Sarto Sasseville, Ryan Hall I; Joseph Visconti, Ryan Hall II; Robert Leclair, Ryan Hall III; Stephen Schryver, Ryan Hall IV; Joseph Haley and Frank Devane, Alumni Hall II and Alumni Hall IV.

Kennedy Heads Rifle Team

Sergeant Doucette, moderator of St. Michael's Air Force R.O.T.C. rifle team, recently appointed James D. Beattie, Jr., a junior from Troy, New York, cadet training officer for the 1956 rifle team. Ed Kennedy, a senior from Burlington, has been designated team captain. Both men are returning veterans from last year.

Along with Beattie and Kennedy all returning members of last year's team will aid Sergeant Doucette in coaching this year's squad. "Through the combined efforts of all concerned" Sergeant Doucette said, "we hope to mold the 1956 rifle team into a winning organization.

For the experienced men of last year, firing will commence in the beginning of October. In the meantime, the Sergeant is awaiting a schedule from the New England League, in which the team will compete.

The majority of the matches will be postal, taking place in the Winooski Armory with the scores being sent to the league afterwards. Sergeant Doucette said that he hopes to obtain two or three shoulder to shoulder matches if possible.

The Campus is My Beat

By Tom Leavitt

People are funny. In our initial column we explained that we would try, for the most part, to comment on the nice things that we see and hear around campus. As is usual in things like this, most of our readers liked it, but some did not because it was not "violent" enough. G. Latimer, one of the more outspoken people on campus, tells us that he didn't think we could be as nice as all that, and that he liked us better when we weren't. Maybe it's age, but somehow we've lost a little of the idealism and "we can change the world" stuff that we had awhile ago. What's more, we were accused by some of being "agin" too many things, and not "far" enough

Thought while wandering around campus: It's certainly great to see some of our new religious faculty members going out of their way to mix with the students, especially freshmen. Seems like previous to this year, everyone was too busy to stop and pass the time of day, and to get acquainted with each other. The lack of mixing seemed especially noticeable to us after we visited Boston College for a day, a year or so ago. While there we noticed small groups of priests and students conversing all over the campus, seemingly. Keep up the good work, Fathers Leary and Ryan!

Jack Eaton, our Student Council head, tells us that he'd like to see the Council furnish the rec room of Alumni Hall with easy chairs, couches, tables, magazines, newspapers and the like. He also wants to partition a section off and put a television set in downstairs. This looks like a swell idea to us, and we'd like to see Council members back it enthusuastically. As things stand now, we don't have a student lounge anywhere on campus, where we can go and relax. The showroom on the first floor of Alumni Hall will be open only on big weekends, we're told, when parents and girl friends come to visit. Jack, who has already begun planning for the project, along with Fathers Paulin and Scully, says the says the chairs and couches can be bought for about $300. He also reports that material for drapes is available, and needs only to be dyed in order to be ready for the windows. The Council is in for a good year, it would seem to us, if they spend some of their budget on projects like this. Father James Coombs and Father John Scully are both helping the Council this year, and for our money, the Council couldn't have two better men guiding it.

Story of the week: Four dons were walking down an Oxford Street one evening. All were philologists, and members of the English department. They were discussing group nouns: a covey of quail, a pride of lions, an exaltation of larks.

As they talked, they passed four ladies of the evening. The dons did not exactly ignore the hussies - in a literary way, that is. One of them asked: "How would you discribe a group like that?"

Suggested the first: "A jam of tarts?"

The second: "A flourish of strumpets?"

The third: "An essay of Trollopes?"

Then the dean of the dons, the eldest and most scholarly of them all, closed the discussion: "I wish you gentlemen would consider 'An anthology of pros.'"

Spain to Print Vinci's Thesis

Dr. Joseph Vinci, assistant professor of modern languages, recently learned that his doctoral study will be published in Spain. An instructor of both French and Spanish on campus, he earned his degree of Doctor of Modern Languages from Middlebury College last year.

His thesis is "The Preaching of Pedro Malon de Chaide in 'The Conversion of Mary Magdalen'." This study of the 16th Century Spaniard is being published in "Religion ej Cultura", edited by the Spanish poet and editor, Felix Garcia. The first portion of thesis appears in the summer issue of the quarterly.

Previous to receiving his doctor's degree from Middlebury College, Dr. Vinci spent the usual period of study in Spain at the University of Madrid. He was awarded a bachelor's degree from City College in New York in 1942 and earned his master's degree in 1949 at Columbia University.

TOUCH FOOTBALL

LAMOUREUX OPTIMISTIC

Although committed to no predictions, the Sophs of Don Lamoureux are looking forward to a successful season. Many stalwarts of last year's hustling team are returning along with a few new faces. Lamoreux, himself outstanding, along with Neil Shea, Tim Walsh, John Della Ratta and several others are hoping to plague their opponents. Shea and Walsh are good pass receivers with the necessary reach. The backfield working from both a "T" and single wing, will be using swifties John Della Ratta and Joe Maloney. In order to keep interest high, Lamoureux has indicated that he will use linemen and backs interchangeably.

TALENTED JUNIORS

Basketballers, Drew Denmead and Bill Kuchar will be big guns with "Steady-Eddie" Cashman's Juniors. The running of Cashman and Bill Gorman with Denmead's passing, the Juniors figure to give anyone and everyone trouble aplenty. Jim DeRose will become the necessary backbone of the line at his center position, Kuchar, an able galloper, will probably be a popular target for Denmead's air activities. The team will also use the T in attempting its exploits. Coach Cashman would make no predictions except this; "we'll probably take the league."

SENIORS DEFEND CROWN

Coach Dave Hurley, although hoping to make a repeat performance in winning the Interclass crown, will make no predictions in that regard. At no loss for talent, Hurley however, feels that his boys are predominantly a tackle club, being converted to the somewhat less vigorous touch game. Jay Tierney's slick passing will provide such receivers as Bernie Ceplicki, Bill Noonan and Dino Gennari with plenty of activity. Ray Jacques and Buddy McCullough will be reappearing in their well-known running roles to spark the multiple offense. Both are shifty runners with dangerous speed. This club will put in all-out efforts in attempting to show its versatility in winning the touch league.

SAILING

While on the road they sail in the boats of the host team in a two division rotation system so that no one team has any continual advantage due to a faster boat. Every regatta consists of at least three series of races with an A and B division (skipper and crew) racing once. Points are awarded for each place and for starting and finishing. Highest total wins the regatta.

Also under discussion at the meeting were securing of new sailing facilities, boat repair and launching, transportation, briefing of new members and practice sessions.

The officers elected last year were announced. Heading the list are the Co-Commodores, Ed Hughes and Paul Bostley. Matt Nastasis is Vice-Commodore, Bill Hill - Rear-Commodore, John Haggerty, Secretary.

Both Commodores urged that anyone interested in sailing, especially Freshmen and those with any sailing experience to get in touch with any member of the team about membership.

The ambitious Fall N. E. I. S. A. schedule is as follows:

Sun., Oct. 7 - Home - UVM, Middlebury, SMC.

Sun., Oct. 17 - Away-Associate Member Championships at Tufts.

Sat., Oct. 20 - Home - UVM, Middlebury, SMC.

Sun., Oct. 21 - Away - 7th Northern New England Invitational Regatta at Middlebury; Dartmouth, SMC, Bowdoin, Middlebury.

Sun., Oct. 28 - Away - Heptaconal Meet at Tufts.

Also included are special Freshmen meets, one this Fall.

TIE GAME

Jacques set up the Senior scoring by one of his two fine interceptions on the Junior 38. Two plays later Buddy McCullough flipped a long 38-yard pass to Bernie Ceplicki to give the Seniors their six points. But Bill Dwyer's try for the extra point was no good and thus the scoring was ended for the half and the game.

The third period was scoreless as the ball changed hands several times.

The Seniors threatened seriously very late in the last period as a neat 15-yard pass play of McCullough to Tierney brought the ball to the Junior 15, with but 30 seconds to play. Tierney picked up 5 yards around the end, but time ran out before the Seniors could run off another play. Jacobs then stepped in and made his decision to play off for the victory.

Impressive Movies Headline Schedule

"Hamlet" opened the new movie season at St. Michael's on Sunday, September 23. There will be 17 films shown this year, six of which will be in color.

The movies will be shown at 8:00 P.M., every other Sunday in Austin Hall until the end of Daylight Saving Time, when the time will change to 7:00 P.M. They will be sponsored by the Inter-Class Activities Committee under the direction of Rev. Paul Gopaul, S.S.E. Members of the Mission Crusade will serve as ushers.

Lounges have been provided for the religious faculty. This will later be expanded to accomodate all faculty members.

Students will be admitted for a donation of twenty-five cents. Those students at neighboring institutions may attend for the same donation.

Every phase of the program will be new or reconditioned. All films will be less than a year old. Some movies such as "Hamelet", "Red Shoes," "The Lavender Hill Mob" and "The Shrike" have been chosen to develop interest in ideas fostered in the Humanities classrooms. Extravagazas were by-passed in favor of films with more interesting plots. The cost of this series is higher than it ever has been before.

Not only the films but the equipment is new. The sound has been improved, eliminating some of the "dead" areas. Both projectors have been reconditioned and a new one has been ordered. Its arrival together with the caliber of films to be shown will assure good movies. Charles Winchell will assist Fr. Gopaul.

The 13th National Congress of the National Federation of Catholic College Students was held at the Cleveland Hotel, Cleveland, Ohio from August 28 to September 1. St. Michael's was represented at the Congress by Jack Kingston, treasurer of the New England Region.

Some 400 delegates representing over 200 Catholic colleges and universities throughout the nation convened in Cleveland for the week long meeting to discuss the federation from a national viewpoint, to pass legislation concerning national affairs and to elect new officers for the coming year. Twenty-six delegates, led by Jim Rourke, Fairfield U., pres. of the New England region, represented New England and its 25 Catholic colleges and 20,000 students.

The Congress opened with the keynote speech being delivered by Dr. Paul van K. Thomson, professor of English at Providence College; and an address from the Most Rev. Leo Binz, D.D., Archbishop of Dubuque.

For the first three days delegate discussion groups were held in the mornings and afternoons for the purpose of exchanging ideas and methods of the functions of the federations. Plenary sessions were held in the evening, at which time reports by national committees and officers were presented and discussed.

The last day of the convention was devoted to two plenary sessions, at which new legislation and resolutions were considered; and the new national officers were elected Diarmund O. Scannlian of St. John's University, Brooklyn was elected to replace Thomas J. Reinstadtler, Jr., of St. Vincent's College, Latrobe, Penn., as national president. New England did not run any candidate for a national office. However, the national Liturgy Commission was reseated at the College of Our Lady of the Elms.

The evening of the elections the annual banquet and dance were held and the 13th National Congress was brought to a fitting end with the delegates attending a 2 A.M. Mass of Thanksgiving at nearby St. John's Cathedral.

The delegates will meet next summer for the 14th National Congress in San Francisco, California.

Reserves Open To Michaelmen

Michaelmen who have to fulfill their military service obligations are reminded that the Organized Reserve in Vermont has some openings that could prove profitable.

St. Michael's Business Manager John Buchan who is a Lieutenant Colonel in the Reserve said that upperclassmen who are not in the AFROTC are especially affected. These students can pick up two years of paid reserve duty while still in college. The reserve year coincides with the school year.

For those who do not wish to join, there is an opportunity to attend the reserve schools. Prof. George Fortune, for example, conducts the administration course. There are other courses in typing, wheeled vehicles, field wireman, cooking and baking.

Buchan said that there are at least three freshmen in the voluntary training program who have to affiliate with a training program. Further information is available from Buchan or at the reserve meetings Thursdays at 7:00 at Fort Ethan Allen, Building 1300.

Companies Set For Senior Interviews

All seniors interested in corporation chemistry, accounting or business administration will be interviewed by a representative of the National Carbon Company on Nov. 7. This will be the first of a series of placement interviews scheduled for the seniors by the alumni office.

In addition to National Carbon, at least nine other firms will participate. These include:

Continental Can; Kresge's; Filenes; IBM; Vic Chemical; U.S. Patent Office; North British Mercantile Insurance; New England Mutual Insurance and Maxwell House, Division of General Foods.

Officer selection teams from the Navy and the Marine Corps will also visit the campus.

Mr. Kenney emphasized the fact that all seniors are requested to complete placement forms and leave them in the alumni office as soon as possible.

Last year, those interested in occupational placement were screened by Mr. Kenney and his assistant Frank Simons. A file was made on each applicant, containing the student's background and evalution remarks by the faculty.

Placement forms for seniors interested in teaching will be handled by Mr. Moran and Fr. Coombs will handle graduate school placement, Mr. Kenney also announced.

THE FORMER MT. ST. MICHAEL'S H.S. STAR
FINISH
RAY FINISHED STRONG AT NORWICH LAST YEAR PLACING THIRD!

By Jim Breagy

The changing weather which we have been experiencing lately has not kept the new St. Michael's Cross Country Team from getting ready for its first test in formal intercollegiate competition. Under the tutelage of Bill Kuchar and Ray Flynn, the tough training which the team is undergoing right now should produce some first class runners.

LOOKING BACK

Last year saw the birth of cross country on the Hilltop with an informal team which competed informally in two meets. They fared very well considering the inexperience of some of the members, winning a dual meet against a more experienced Norwich club while not doing so well in the Connecticut Valley Run at UVM.

COURSE SET

This year, however, should tell a different story as the experience acquired last fall should be a great help. Already the Knights are running five miles daily, having built up to that distance from a half mile in the short period of two weeks. A five mile course has been set up here which will be used for the home meets to be run against Norwich and Castleton State Teachers College. The course, which begins at Old Hall and ends appropriately at the Infirmary, takes in a tough backwoods road behind the athletic field, some grueling hills as well as some flat paved roads for making fast time.

THE TEAM

Bill Kuchar, as team captain, is a runner with a notable background. He ran throughout his high school career at Dickinson High of Jersey City which won the New Jersey Sectional Championships in track and field while "Kooch" was there. Another returnee from last year's team to watch is Ray Flynn of Woodlawn, N.Y. and Mt. St. Michael's High School.

In the past Ray has entered some first rate competition having run in the Penn Relays, the Millrose Games and the ICAA College Championships among others. Larry Austin and Pete Russelowski are two veterans who gained experience in last year's informal meets and are expected to make a good showing this year.

Newcomers to the team include Sophomore Joe Maloney who was well known in schoolboy circles around the New York Area as a top quarter miler and 220 yard man for Stepinac High School. Bill O'Reilly of Albany and Vincentin ran in the half mile and mile events there while Dominic Villoni of Plattsburg, N.Y. is new to the sport but appears to have the stuff which makes him a sleeper.

PLAN TWO TRIPS

On October 15th the Knights play host to Norwich in a dual meet here followed by another home date on the 20th with Castleton State Teachers College. The team will then journey to New London, Connecticut on the 26th where they will run against the Coast Guard Academy between the halves of a football game.

An away date with Norwich will bring the schedule to a close on November 1st. The two home meets will give the students chance to see their charges in action and plenty of support and encouragement is needed to make the team a success. Cross Country at St. Michael's is still in its infant stages and it could be a stepping stone to a broader Track and Field Program in the future.

TOUCH LEAGUE COACHES HOPEFUL

The fall season, here on campus, will this year usher in a new era in Interclass Touch Football replacing the old tackle game played here the last two years.

Emphasis is expected to shift from a game in which running predominates, to one which pass plays will be used frequently. However, when they are used, running plays will require speed and deception, not to mention some occasional "razzle dazzle."

NINE-MEN TEAMS

Although touch-football is very similar to tackle, it requires only nine men, four backs and five linemen. Defensive measures will be of a two hand nature. However, rules specify that the contact must be made above the waist of the offensive player.

FROSH

"Rollie Holub's Frosh gridders may be a team to bear watching, even though untested as yet. Many of the aspirants have had gridiron experience of some kind, while Holub and assistant coach Frank Coleman have advanced as far as semi-pro ranks. Members of a speedy backfield, "Yozi" Campaglia and Joe Kozlowski have been impressive. Guard, Armand Mailhot, who has shown up well in practice sessions will lead an aggressive line. The team will work out of a variety of formations with nothing very definite. Undermanned, Holub will still welcome newcomers.

SAILORS PLAN FOR FALL SEASON

Wednesday night saw the first Fall meeting of the St. Michael's Sailing team. The main point under discussion was the Fall schedule which gets under way in two brief weeks and includes six regattas, four of them away meets.

The team is an associate member of the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association sailing in both the Fall and Spring regattas against a membership list which includes M.I.T., Dartmouth, Middlebury and Vermont.

In their home meets the Knight sailors use their three 9-foot 6-inch sailboats on Mallets Bay. The boats are single sailed Marconi rigged dingies belonging to a class of sailboats called "Turnabouts."

Sportscoop

By Jay Tierney

This winter the hoopsters from the Hilltop will be tackling its toughest schedule in the school's history and headlining the Purple Knights' season will be the Marine Tournament at Quantico, Virginia.

There are several good small colleges participating, including Belmont Abbey, Mount St. Mary's, University of Tampa, Morovian, Wabash, Hampden-Sydney, and of course Quantico. The Abbey finished last season with an 18-7 record which included hitting the century mark 6 times and the North Carolinians are headed for even greater court success this year. Mount St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Maryland, won the Mason-Dixon crown and Jack Sullivan who poured in 487 points last season and has 1606 points for three years will be on hand again come tournament time to prove that he's every bit as good as his honorable mention All American build up. Quantico is predicted to be "loaded" again this year, but Ritchie Guerin, who plagued the Marine opposition for the past few seasons and finished the year on the All Armed Forces team has signed with the Knicks for the coming campaign. The opposition will be tough, but St. Michael's is sending the best small college team in New England to bring the championship home to the land where basketball originated. What more can we ask?

On the western swing the Jacobmen meet Loyala University which dumped Notre Dame, who won the Sugar Bowl for the past two years, 71-65, then the Knights top-off against Creighton University with the hope of avenging last year's 73-72 set back. Next, the boys travel to Missouri where they'll meet Rockhurst College which won all of its 18 games on its home court and boasted a 25-5 showing for the season, the best in the schools history. Jimmy Tucker of Duquesne fame has a younger brother playing for Rockhurst who ended last season with a total of 400 points. After playing Regis and the Air Force Academy the team will return to familiar territory for its remaining ten games.

Footballwise, Saint Michael's won't have any T.V. coast to coast hook-ups this fall, but by the time this paper hits the corridors many of the touch aspirants will realize that it isn't as soft as previously expected. There isn't any fear of breaking any bones, but chances of spraining ankles, tearing ligaments and walking off the field with a Basilio facial look are even better than previous seasons. The accent will be on speed and passing and we hope that every class will support their respective teams.

Chit-Chat:

Ronnie Knox, highly publicized quarterback of U.C.L.A.'s Rose Bowl team, is in quite a precarious situation trying to clear himself of receiving under-the-table money which he states was not illegimate pay but amounts to $500 worth of football tickets, $500 pocket money, and $500 transportation money for his family. Too bad Ronnie didn't go to Saint Michael's, he'd probably be promised permission to eat off campus.

Those Seniors who witnessed the S.M.C.-Boston University basketball game in their Freshman year probably remember Tom Gastall, who was found dead after his plane crashed in the Chesapeake Bay area. Gastall was not only a top-notched hardwood man, but one of the best quarterbacks in B.U.'s grid annuals and after three years behind the plate for the Boston nine he signed for $40,000 with the Baltimore Orioles.

Last Tuesday evening Sal Maglie, the old man from Buffalo, pitched a no-hitter for his ex-enemies against the Phios. His twelfth victor couldn't have been a sweeter one as the Dodgers trail Milwaukee now by just a half-a-game. That's pretty fair pitching, Sal, but too bad it couldn't have been against your ex-teammates from the Polo Grounds.

Juniors-Seniors Deadlock 6-6

The Juniors of Ed Cashman and Dave Hurley's Senior gridders, dueled to a 6-6 tie in the Interclass opener. Because no statistics were available, Athletic Director "Doc" Jacobs could award no victory. Instead a play-off was announced, with the team gaining the most yardage in four downs to be given the win. This would take place as an pre-game event, at the next clash of the two teams.

GORMAN TALLIES

Bill Gorman of the Juniors opened the scoring in 1st period as he intercepted a Tierney pass on his own 47 and galloped 53 yards to paydirt. However, Charlie Winchell failed in attempting to run over the extra point. The activity for the remainder of the quarter was confined to
